CONCORDIA

For many students, the end of the 2004-5 academic year will mark the conclusion of one life phase and the beginning of another. Transitions in life are exciting yet can seem to be intimidating. This year I am especially sensitive to this emotional duality because for me, as for those who are graduating, June 2005 is a milestone, the conclusion of my term as President/Recteur of Concordia University.

During my ten years in office I have had the privilege of seeing almost 50,000 students graduate and move on to jobs—many to jobs of preference—or to further education elsewhere. For all of them, now Concordia alumnae and alumni, their university years will become increasingly meaningful with the passage of time. They will be able to put into a larger context the experiences they had at Concordia—in the classroom and laboratory and studio—but also in our social, cultural, athletic and political clubs and in the interaction with students from so many diverse backgrounds. They will be better able in retrospect to appreciate the professors who, I hope, inspired as well as taught and who, together with Concordia staff, administrators and fellow students, created the stimulating atmosphere that made studying here a singular experience.

For me, personally, it has been a remarkable privilege to experience the growth in size, quality and reputation of this great institution during the past decade. The momentum created is a springboard that will enable this university to attain new heights in its learning environment, scholarship and profile in the years to come, thereby adding luster to your Concordia degree.

As we face the future, there are indeed exciting challenges and there is no need for us to feel or be intimidated. Our experiences at Concordia have prepared us well for these challenges.

A QUICKIE HISTORY OF CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY

Concordia's roots go back to its two founding institutions, Sir George Williams University and Loyola College.

Sir George Williams had its origins in the Montreal YMCA.

George Williams founded the YMCA in London in 1844. The Montreal YMCA was established in 1851, the first in North America. Education was an important part of its program, and even in its very early days it organized lectures and classes for working men. The Y opened a library in 1854, provided extension courses in 1856, and gave its first scheduled evening classes in 1863. The educational program flourished between 1873 and 1891 in the Y's Victoria Square Building, long since demolished. The Y and its educational program moved to Dominion Square in the heart of downtown (1892-1912), where the Sun Life Building now stands, and then to Drummond Street (1912). By 1926 the Educational Department had become the co-educational Sir George Williams College where part-time evening studies were a special feature. The College aimed to expand formal education opportunities for both young men and women employed in Montreal.

In 1948, Sir George Williams College obtained its university charter although it had been granting degrees since 1936-37. The charter led to recognition, financial assistance, and further expansion. In 1959, the College requested the Provincial Legislature to amend its university charter, changing its name to Sir George Williams University. This is the charter under which Concordia currently grants university degrees.

SGW was one of the first Canadian universities to offer a full range of university programs to evening students. In 1956 SGW erected its own building on Drummond. (Concordia left this building in 1992 and it is currently the headquarters of the Montreal YMCA.) In the 1960s, Sir George Williams University severed its last ties with the YMCA, but the University had already been functioning as an autonomous body for many years. Graduate programs began in 1965 and increased rapidly to include a full range of Masters and Doctoral programs. Sir George's academic and administrative departments gradually shifted west towards the Hall Building after it was built in 1966.

Loyola College

Loyola College had its origins in the Jesuit Collège Ste-Marie on Bleury and Ste-Catherine, in downtown Montreal.

Collège Ste-Marie/St. Mary's College offered both a French and an English-language program when it opened in 1848, and it initiated a separate English program in 1888. The program evolved into Loyola College, which opened its doors as a separate Jesuit entity in 1896, an English-language institution within Quebec's collège classique tradition. It was originally located in the former Sacred Heart Convent at the south-east corner of Bleury and Ste-Catherine (approximately where the Spectrum is now). A fire destroyed the building in 1898, and Loyola moved to Drummond near Ste-Catherine, into the building of the former Tucker School that was on the site where the LaSalle Hotel (now the Hotel Europa) was later built.

Loyola College built its first buildings and moved to the present west-end campus in 1916. In the 1920s Loyola moved away from the collège classique model and the College and the High School programs became distinct, although they remained connected for many decades. By the 1940s all traces of the classical college tradition were gone and Loyola College was an undergraduate institution following the North American four-year college model. However, it continued to follow the Jesuit blueprint for a classical education designed to train the mind and develop the moral faculties. In 1959 Loyola College became co-educational. In the 1960s a new campus development plan was launched to meet exploding enrolment and Loyola broke from the original master plan and building style and built several buildings in a modern style. Loyola fought hard over the years to get its university charter, but it never achieved university status. Loyola's degrees were awarded through an agreement with Université Laval, and later with Université de Montréal.

Concordia University

Loyola College and Sir George Williams merged in 1974 to create Concordia University. Concordia has built upon the strong traditions of its founding institutions to create the institution we know today.

Undergraduate and graduate programs in all faculties and the Continuing Education program have evolved to meet the changing demands of a diverse and rapidly growing student body. Concordia's first new building project on the SGW campus was the McConnell Building (1992) housing the long-awaited Webster Library. In the 1990s the University carried out a global evaluation and major reorganization of its academic programs. Subsequently it developed a bold strategic plan to meet changing space needs and manage growth over the coming decades. The public face of Concordia will change with new buildings, renovation of existing facilities, and a move to university-owned rather than rented facilities. The Richard

J. Renaud Science Pavilion (opened in 2003) is part of a revitalization of the Loyola Campus that will also include renovation and upgrading of many Loyola facilities. The downtown phase of this ambitious plan began with construction of the Engineering and Computer Science and Visual Arts Integrated Complex on Ste-Catherine between Guy and Mackay. The Complex will open in 2005. It will soon be joined by the John Molson School of Business building on the south-west corner of Guy and de Maisonneuve. Concordia purchased the Grey Nuns Motherhouse at Guy and René Lévesque in 2004 and will begin occupying the buildings in February 2007. Quartier Concordia, encompassing the downtown campus, will help to create a distinct urban identity for the Sir George Williams Campus and its surroundings using specialized signage and urban design. Concordia will have a clear identification in Montreal's downtown landscape where it has been a presence for more than a hundred years.

CONCORDIA COAT OF ARMS

Like so many things at Concordia the Coat of Arms has its roots in both founding institutions, Sir George Williams and Loyola.

In December 1937 the SGW Board of Governors approved a coat of arms based upon that of Sir George Williams, the founder of the YMCA. It included a dove, an olive branch, an open book (representing education) on a triangle (symbolic of the YMCA mission of developing body, mind, and spirit), and two roses. The Board also approved a change in the SGW colours from blue and white to gold and maroon. Following a 1962 application, on December 3, 1964 the College of Arms, London ascribed official arms to SGWU and gave it the legal right to use them.

Loyola did not have an official grant of arms, but used various versions of the ancestral arms of the Loyola family at the time of St. Ignatius. The arms included a double shield (common with Spanish families) for maternal and paternal strains, the families of Onaz and Loyola, wolves rampant and a cauldron to designate the plenty of the Loyola family, and seven bars to represent bravery shown by seven brothers at the Battle of Beotibar in 1321. Loyola College's colours were maroon and white.

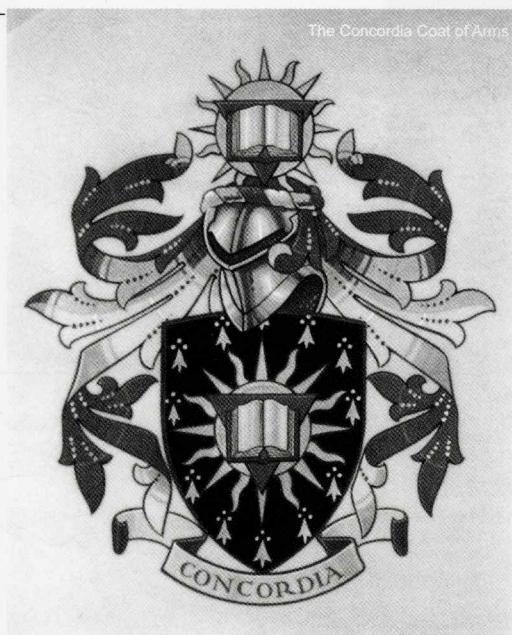

After the 1974 merger, negotiations began with the College of Arms for new armorial bearings that would reflect both founding institutions and embody the spirit of Concordia.

On February 13, 1975, the Board of Governors approved the official Concordia colours white, gold and maroon—a combination of Loyola and SGW colours, and in keeping with the colours of the coat of arms. On December 23, 1976 the College of Arms officially granted Concordia's new armorial bearings. On the ribbon stretched beneath the shield is the device "Concordia," signifying the University's aspiration as well as its participation in the life of the City of Montreal, the motto of which is Concordia Salus or well-being through harmony. The official coats of arms are preserved in the Concordia Archives.

The official description of the Concordia coat of arms is:

Pearl a sun in splendour Or thereon an inverted triangle murrey surmounted by an open book argent edged Or bound azure. And for the crest, on a wreath argent, Or and murrey a sun in splendour Or thereon an inverted triangle murrey surmounted by an open book argent edged Or bound azure. Mantling, Murrey doubled argent and Or.

REGGIE'S

A long-anticipated student union building was purchased in 1970 at Crescent and de Maisonneuve (where Newtown presently stands) and it operated as a student-run student union with lounges and a coffee house. By 1974 the Day Students' Association closed the student union because of a crippling deficit, and the building was sold. In 1975, the student association donated $673,000 to the University's capital campaign in exchange for the construction of a student centre downtown. On January 27, 1977 Reggie's student pub opened on the seventh floor of the Hall Building. It was named Reggie's after the fun-loving and flamboyant Reggie Parry (1915-1988), Physical Plant supervisor, and Events Coordinator for the SGW campus from 1964 until his retirement in 1979. Reggie continued to attend student events in the pub long after his retirement. In June 1988, there was an agreement that Concordia would use the money contributed by the student association to build a student-run centre in the Hall Building mezzanine. In 1994 the newly-constructed Reggie's and a student-owned café opened on the mezzanine, taking space previously occupied by the bookstore and the art gallery, both of which had moved to the new Library Building. The café currently operates under contract. In 2003 the newly renovated student pub was renamed "Bonkif" by CUSACorp, the student body that currently oversees the pub and the café.

By popular demand, a few months later, and with a change in student government, the pub reverted to the name Reggie's.

ARTS FESTIVALS

Concordia's first creative arts festival began in 1975 when University Senate established a Committee for Creative Work in the Arts. The Committee would extend the existing Board of Governors Medals for Creative Work in the Arts that were well established on the SGW campus.

The Committee developed and brought into being the Concordia University Festival of the Arts. At the first Festival held in March 1976 there were 150 entries in several categories, performances, exhibitions, and nineteen awards of $100 each for. The festival ran for six years until 1981 when interest and participation dropped and support waned. The student-run and University-funded Art Matters emerged in 2001 with a creative bang! It was open to all students and every type of art and was conceived as an opportunity to bring students together and to showcase their talent in a professional way. The first Art Matters took place in many venues across the University and featured 80 projects involving 400 students. Art Matters is now an annual celebration of Concordia artists.

The two-week multidisciplinary festival provides a setting for student artwork with many performances and exhibits throughout the Loyola and SGW Campuses and at other venues in the city. It invites innovation, diversity, and cooperative projects. Some of the work has sparked animated controversy and dialogue. Student volunteers organize and run Art Matters, providing Concordia's emerging artists with the opportunity to develop the practical skills they will need to fund, promote, and bring their art to the public. Art Matters creates a celebration of art at Concordia.

THE CONCORDIA SHUTTLE BUS

The idea of a Shuttle Bus arose before Concordia came into being. In 1968 a Joint Steering Committee was established to investigate the possibility of federation/merger of Sir George Williams and Loyola. The committee's 1969 report proposed a federation allowing students to take courses at Loyola and SGW, facilitated by bus service between the campuses. It was several years before the merger was finalized in August 1974, and it was another two years before the long-awaited free shuttle bus facilitated movement between the two campuses. The 1976 bus was a 13-seat rented van that made seven return trips a day between 9:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. It was an immediate hit but woefully inadequate and the ticket system was a nightmare! A year later a second van doubled service. In 1978 larger school buses were rented and service began at 9. A third bus and expanded hours (until 6:45 p.m.) arrived in 1979. A university-wide fundraising drive enabled limited handicapped service in 1981, and tickets were finally abolished. Evening service was at last available in 1983.

Concordia's first shuttle bus, September 28, 1976. P150-02-96

One of the Concordia's shuttle buses, 2004

As Concordia became more integrated and campus barriers diminished, travel between the campuses increased and the service became increasingly strained despite added capacity. In the early 1990s new handicapped-accessible buses were leased to replace the frumpy yellow school buses; the new buses were painted burgundy and white with Concordia identification. In 2000 a bus shelter at Loyola eased the pain of waiting in bad weather. In spring 2004 the whole shuttle service was revamped with four 80-passenger Concordia buses (and one spare), painted with an innovative Concordia design. Thirty years after the merger more than 5,000 passengers ride the Concordia buses daily, more than a million passenger-trips annually.

WOMEN AND WORK SYMPOSIUM

The first Women and Work Symposium was held in 1993-94 as part of the activities organized to mark the 25th anniversary of the MBA program (begun in 1968-69).

The Symposium was a great success and it continued for five more years. The MBA Program and the Faculty of Commerce and Administration, (now the John Molson School of Business) organized the extremely popular one-day sessions that featured individual speakers, workshops, and panel discussions. The program changed yearly and included speakers such as chef and restaurant-owner Anne Desjardins, Olympic athlete Rosey Edeh, vice-president of Chanel Inc., Diane Oliver, and Superior Court of Quebec judge Pierrette Sévigny, one of the early women graduates of Loyola. Registration grew to 300 people. The final Women and Work Symposium was held in May 1999.

THE CONCORDIA SHUTTLE BUS

The idea of a Shuttle Bus arose before Concordia's first year. In 1952 a Joint Student-Congregation Committee was formed to investigate the necessity of inter-collegiate travel. The George Wilkins and Loyola. The Committee's 1953 report proposed a shuttle service for students in the St. Louis area. The idea was approved by the Board of Trustees in 1954 and the Shuttle Bus was started in 1955. The first year it carried 1,000 passengers. By 1960 it was carrying 2,000 passengers. The Shuttle Bus was a great success. It provided a convenient and economical way for students to travel between the two campuses. It was also a great way for students to get to know each other. ## CCSL AWARDS CEREMONY

AWARDED ANNUALLY WHEN MERITED TO CONCORDIA STUDENTS, STAFF OR FACULTY WHO HAVE MADE OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTIONS TO STUDENT LIFE OR SERVICES AT THE UNIVESITY

Awards for student life

Thursday Report Vol.29 #14, April 21, 2005

The Concordia Council for Student Life gives awards to people who have made exceptional contributions over the past year. This year, the awards were handed out on April 8 at a reception in the downtown Faculty Club.

The Council is an advisory body that makes recommendations to improve students' non-academic life. Chaired by the Dean of Students, it comprises six directors, two support staff members, one senior academic administrator and 10 student representatives.

The teaching award went to Christopher Gray, chair of the Philosophy Department, (top photo) who organized the first bursary program in the department, helped implement a peer tutoring program, and created a student advocacy program.

Gray said he operates on the assumption that "life is hard, always, for young people. My task is not to keep setting the bar ever higher, but to lower it as far as compatible with responsible and respectable higher education."

Stuart Letovsky, president of the Education Students Association

Undergraduate education and its lively experiences are the centre of university education, he said, and "the SRF [Student Request Form] is as important a document as a transcript. Things go wrong. It is one of our jobs is to try and make them go right again."

Peter Schiefke is an undergraduate student in Political Science. Last year he was VP Finance of ASFA, the Arts and Science Federation of Associations, and this year he is VP Student Life of the CSU.

Peter helped create an ASFA student handbook, and he helped organize the display of a huge Canadian flag on Parliament Hill for Remembrance Day, 2002.

Now he is organizing a student volunteer project in Africa called the Concordia Volunteer Abroad Program.

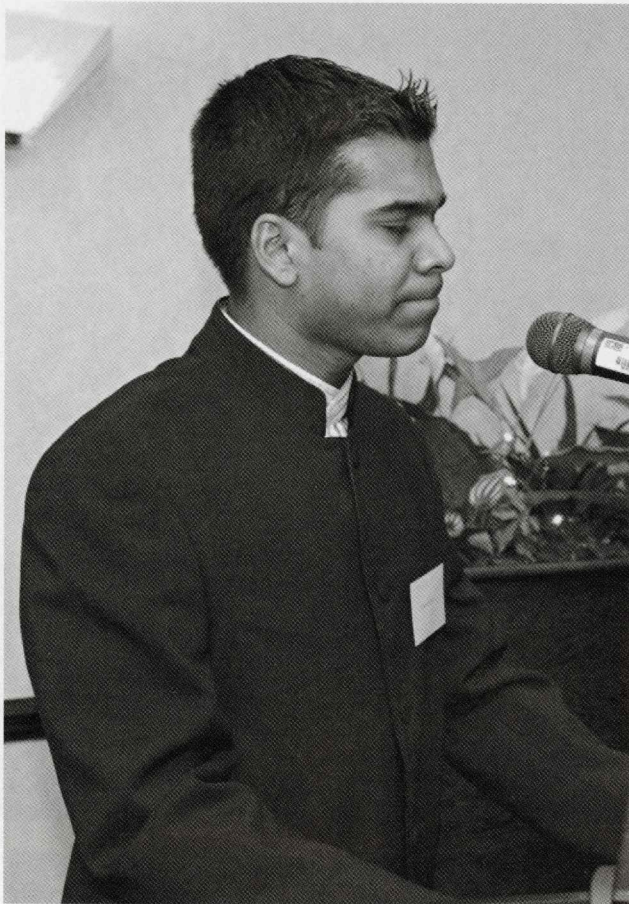

Stuart Letovsky won a CCSL Award for his volunteer work. As president of Concordia Education Student Association, he oversaw the giving and wrapping of over 2,500 gifts for needy children at Christmas. He's also an active Stingers fan.

Russell Lobo, an undergraduate student in Electrical Engineering, was VP, Activities, of the Concordia International Students Association last year. This year, he's CISA president.

He helped organize more than 20 social activities this year for international students, and was a valuable link between CISA and the Concordia Student Union.

Arab Students' Association (ASA)

The Arab Students' Association seeks to unite Concordia's large Arab population under one association hosting parties, exhibitions, awareness campaigns, and cultural and religious events. As this year's executive, we are proud to have revived a once very active ASA, which had been in sleep-mode for the past couple of years. We're here to inform and educate Concordia about Arabs, and have fun doing it!

Check out our new website at: <http://www.asaconcordia.com>

Concordia Caribbean Students Union (CCSU)

The Constitution of the Concordia Caribbean Students Union (CCSU) states to educate upon and promote Caribbean culture, interest and all information pertaining to the Caribbean, not only to the Concordia Students but all people. As well, as to help Caribbean Students adapt to any social, structural or cultural shock or changes at Concordia and to intertwine the Students with Concordia University life. Concordia International Students' Association (CISA)

We, the Concordia International Students' Association (CISA) are a non-political group whose main aim is to help international students adjust to life in Montreal. Our volunteer team consists of two co-presidents and ten vice-presidents, coming from all over the world! We introduce students to the city and Canada by organizing trips and activities for students all year long.

Concordia University Building Engineering Society (CUBES)

We are CUBES, a growing society that sets the vibe in the Building Engineering Department. As representative society of the department, we are proud to help out students during their program and make their stay at Concordia a more than pleasant one!

Throughout the year, we have various activities that help us to share more together than just theoretical knowledge: the Wine & Cheese "Meet the Profs", the Holiday "Christmas" Dinner that gather about 70 students around the same table! The lizard lounges (twice a year), for you to enjoy good music, good food, and good beers, lots of beers! We even got 8.5 out of 10 as a rating for our lizard lounge!!! Impressive! And more and more activities in common with other societies around campus. Just join the fun. Thanks to you all for this amazing year of 2005 which has been the rebirth of the society, and we hope you will get involved in our growing efforts!

Much Love and Engineering!

2004-2005 President of CUBES

Concordia SAE (Society of Automotive Engineers)

Concordia's Chapter of SAE is a student organisation that encourages students from all levels and disciplines to participate in the challenging and highly competitive intercollegiate competitions in order to acquire vital technical and leadership skills. We build an off-road vehicle, a scaled down Formula 1 style race car, a radio controlled aircraft, a lightweight, fuel efficient vehicle, and a clean snowmobile. These projects provide excellent hands-on experience to participating students, enriching our studies and ultimately giving us an edge in the job market. They also promote excellence in engineering and an unparalleled enthusiasm for learning. While showcasing Concordia, the SAE teams benefit from the experience of designing and manufacturing a real vehicle, and gain teamwork skills while working intensely with other engineering students. We proudly represent Concordia Engineering by showcasing innovative and practical designs, and have been featured on Global TV, and in both The Montreal Gazette and Concordia's Thursday Report. SAE is a prominent and perennial guest at the events hosted by the ECA and the Faculty, such as at the annual ExpoScience held at Stewart Hall in Pointe Claire, during Concordia's Open House, throughout National Engineering Week, at the Engineering: A Profession, A Passion! fair, as well as during the week-long Frosh activities.

Italian Studies Students Association (ISSA)

Our association's goal this semester was to organize events, not only for students studying Italian, but also for anyone interested in Italian culture. On Friday March 11th, 2005, our association held an Italian culture party at Reggie's which included a live Italian band. We also had a food tasting festival, in which people ate, buffet style, all the delicacies of Italian food, and, raffles prizes were given out. Our event was a success with over 100 people in attendance.

Liberal Concordia

Liberal Concordia, the official branch of the Liberal Party of Canada at Concordia University, had several years of hard work pay off at the Party's Biennial Convention in Ottawa last March when they were awarded the Liberal Campus Association of the Year award, the highest honour presented to a Liberal student-run organization in Canada. This came as a result of their rapid growth, successful events, and ability to be financially independent.

Otaku Anime

Otaku Anime is dedicated to showcasing the best that Japanese animation has to offer in order to educate, promote awareness, and create interest in anime at Concordia.

We organize screenings on Saturdays in the Hall building from 2:00-10:00 PM and sometimes run contests for anime prizes. Admission is free and open to everyone.

Painting and Drawing Association (PDA)

The goal of the Painting and Drawing Association is to provide students with an opportunity to display their works and showcase the quality of work produced in the fine arts department. This year the PDA has put up five major shows and events, some highlights include the PDA show at Gallery 306 in the Belgo Building, "off colour" was the name of our show in Gallery Espace and we also participated in the Art Matters Festival with the show "hindsight".

Pakistani Students Association (PSA)

The Pakistani Students Association initiated in the Winter Semester 2004 aims to represent the Pakistani Community and its culture here at Concordia University. Among the various activities organised by PSA a cultural display was held at the mezzanine on the 29th and 30th of September 2004. The display sought to inform people about the history, sports, festivals, costumes & fashion, arts & architecture, music and natural beauty of Pakistan. We have held sports events such as the Cricket Tournament held on the 11th of September 2004.

Pictures of the various events can be viewed at <http://psa.concordia.ca>

Concordia's Fine Arts program is one of the best in the country, boasting a diverse and talented student body. Every year for two weeks in March, Concordia artists have a chance to shine in the Art Matters festival. This multi-disciplinary student-run enterprise has grown over the last five years into a one-of-a-kind event in Montreal. In 2005, over 200 student artists exhibited works in galleries and performance venues around the city and on campus. With everything from a trivia competition on the Mezzanine to a Rainforest benefit to a 25-piece Brazilian drum ensemble at the closing gala, Art Matters is packed with events that attract Concordians from every faculty, along with the general public. Dance, Theatre, Music, Visual Arts of all kinds...there is something for everyone in this annual extravaganza. Most importantly, it's a chance for everyone, whether or not they know a Picasso from a Pollock, or Chopin from Chopsticks, to appreciate how much art matters!

En début mars, l'Université Concordia s'est transformé sous nos yeux. Pendant deux semaines, des artistes ont pris possession de plusieurs lieux sur le campus pour une 4<sup>e</sup> grande rencontre entre art et communauté.

Une rencontre entre l'art et la vie.

C'est en 2000 que l'aventure a commencé. Cinq étudiants du département des Beaux-Arts de Concordia, Julie Fowler, Ruthie Sumiko Tabata, Michael Goldon et Declan O'Driscoll, ont ressenti le besoin d'offrir une occasion aux étudiants en art d'exposer leurs créations à leurs pairs et au public. Ils ont donc mis en branle l'année suivante un festival s'étalant sur 14 jours qui fusionne arts visuels, performance, vidéo, danse, design, animation, photographie, musique, sculpture et bien plus.

Maintenant à sa quatrième édition, Art Matters est devenu un festival renommé, entièrement géré par les étudiants, qui expose au grand public tout le talent des artistes de Concordia. On apprend sur leur site que « ce festival est le seul en son genre au Canada et possiblement en Amérique du Nord ». Il offre aux artistes émergents l'occasion d'acquérir de l'expérience et permet à leur œuvres de bénéficier d'une grande visibilité. Il est aussi surtout là pour célébrer tout ce talent artistique concordien. Emily Pearlman, co-productrice du festival, explique qu'« Art Matters est une chance pour les étudiants de l'Université de montrer à tous qu'ils créent de grandes choses et contribuent à la communauté d'une façon positive ».

Tout étudiant de l'Université peut soumettre une création ou un projet et la sélection se base sur l'innovation, la technique, l'intérêt et la qualité générale du travail. De plus, toute personne désireuse de s'impliquer dans un tel événement peut le faire et apprendre comment se réalisent les différentes étapes d'un tel festival. Art Matters a été créé par les étudiants et pour les étudiants.

Ces célébrations artistiques tentent aussi de créer des liens entre les deux campus qui évoluent trop souvent chacun de leur côté. Ainsi, vous pourrez voir différents événements aux deux extrémités de l'Université. Si comme moi, vous êtes seulement sur l'un des deux campus, Art Matters vous permettra peut-être de découvrir l'autre côté de Concordia. De plus, le festival crée de nouveaux liens entre les différents départements et tisse ainsi un réseau de contacts entre plusieurs champs d'études. Tous ces événements sont rendus possibles grâce à l'Université qui contribue au festival, mais aussi grâce aux étudiants, qui donnent

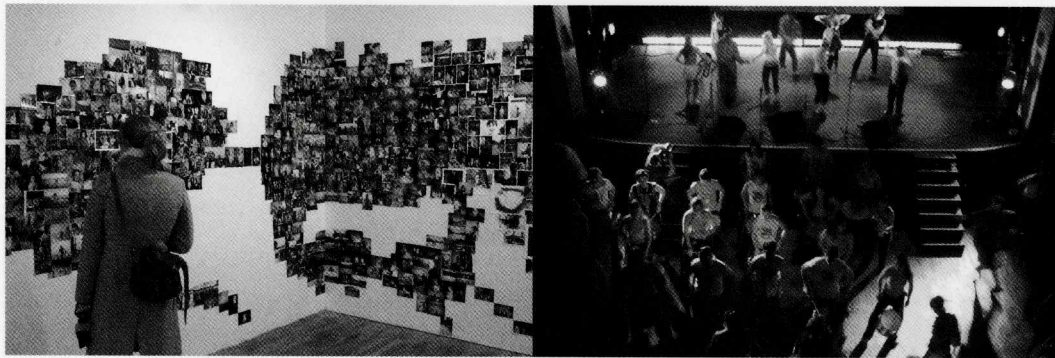

En 2001, Art Matters a gagné le prix Forces Avenir pour la qualité exceptionnelle d'un tel projet. Forces Avenir est un regroupement sans but lucratif du secteur gouvernemental et industriel qui cherche à encourager les jeunes talents québécois. Ainsi, le Gouvernement du Québec leur a attribué cette récompense pour le meilleur projet réalisé par des étudiants. (...)

La Mezzanine du «Hall building» est aussi l'hôtesse d'une multitude d'événements.

Art Matters History

In 2000, five Fine Arts students at Concordia University; Julie Fowler, Ruthie Sumiko Tabata, Yael Wand, Michael Golden and Declan O'Driscoll, decided that there needed to be an opportunity for students to exhibit their work to their peers and the public. The result was a two-week celebration of all forms of art: animation, dance, design, film, music, spoken word, theatre and visual art.

Now in its fifth year, Art Matters has become a renowned festival that showcases the incredible emerging talent of Concordia students. Our list of past venues includes the World Beat Music Centre on de la Montagne, the Contemporary Art Gallery and Studio 303. Voted fifth Best Art Exhibit in the 2003 Mirror Reader's Poll, Art Matters is making a name for itself and our students by bringing art to the community and the community to art.

Our Call for Submissions is open to any and all Concordia students.

Art Matters Mandate

Art Matters is a festival of fine arts that celebrates and supports the developing talent housed at Concordia University, setting a precedent for Universities throughout Canada.

The Art Matters festival is created by the students and for the students of Concordia University and the community at large.

Art Matters works hand and hand through F.A.S.A (Fine Arts Student Alliance), Concordia University and its students for funding and support. Art Matters respects and promotes innovations and expressions of art in all disciplines, encouraging diversity by being as inclusive and representative as possible of all genres, styles and forms of fine arts.

Art Matters aims to unify the fine arts communities split between the two Concordia campuses and develop communication between all the departments within the Fine Arts Faculty.

Art Matters welcomes the artistic participation of any Concordia University student.

Art Matters is a festival that creates an atmosphere of celebration in artistic expression, exploration and collaboration.

Art Matters is open to all art forms in any language.

Art Matters aims to provide emerging artists with practical skills and tools to promote their art.

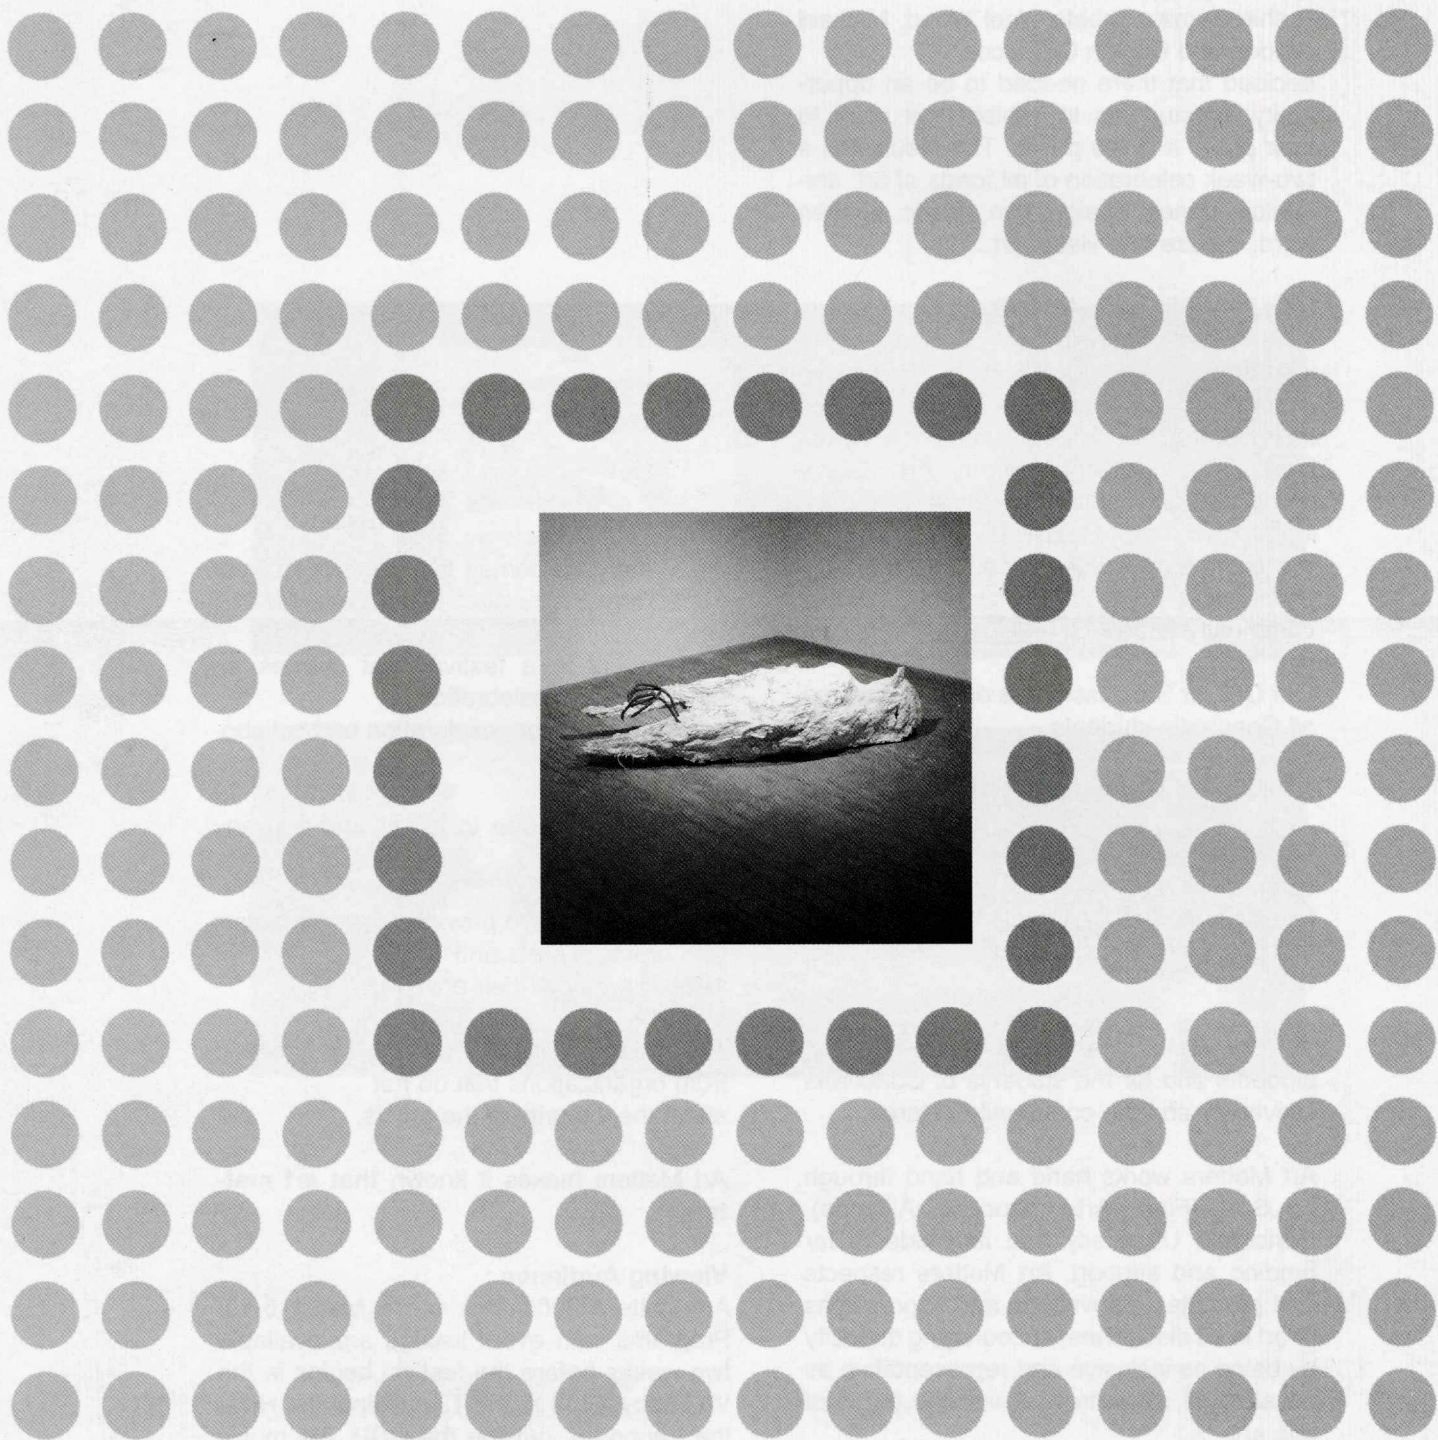

Art Matters will only accept sponsorship from organizations that do not affect the integrity of the artists.

Art Matters makes it known that art matters.

Viewing Audience :

Art Matters 2005 took place March 5-19. Programs with event listings are available two weeks before the festival begins in the VA Lobby, Cafe X, the TJ building, the Hive, the Faubourg, outside the CSU, the music building at Loyola and was on the web site. A listing of events is also available in the issue of the Mirror a week before the festival.

Athletic Award Winners

Goaltender Cecilia Anderson and point guard Phil Langlois were named the Concordia Athletes of the Year at a gala awards dinner attended by 350 people on April 7.

Anderson was in her native Sweden representing her country at the Women's World Ice Hockey Championships. She proudly wears her Concordia mask in these international games which are broadcast around the world. She tuned up for her debut on the world stage by leading the Stingers to first place in the Quebec women's hockey league and a berth in the university championship. She was named a second team all-Canadian, the QSSF MVP, a QSSF all-star and her team MVP. She was presented the Sally Kemp Award by Concordia Vice-President Michael Di Grappa.

Langlois, a senior guard, was simply electrifying in 2004-'05. Every time he touched the basketball, the crowd stirred in anticipation. The team captain led his Stingers to a silver medal at the national championship and to their first Quebec title in five years. He was named a first team all-Canadian – only the third Stinger in 30 years to make the first team. He was the QSSF MVP and was a Quebec all-star for the fourth time in four years. Along the way he was among the national leaders in several categories, including assists, steals and free throw shooting. He was presented the Dr. Robert J. Brodrick Award by Vice-President Di Grappa.

A complete list of award winners is below:

Ron Lapointe Award for academics, athletics and community service - George Vouloumanos, men's rugby

Denise Beaudet Award for academics, athletics and community service - M.J. Raposo, women's basketball

Male Rookie of the Year - Tim Wadsworth, wrestling

Laurie Brodrick Award/Female Athlete of the Year - Sandy Roy, hockey

Awards of Distinction in recognition of outstanding career - Kelly Sudia, women's hockey, and François Bastien, men's soccer.

Fittest Female Athlete - Marie-Pier Cantin-Drouin, hockey

Fittest Male Athlete - Mickey Donovan, football

Marvin Cooper Award - presented to a student-athlete who has successfully overcome adversity through hard work, commitment and dedication. Kesner Coridon, football.

Academic Excellence Awards (top GPA) - Michael Wong, ski team, and Andrea Dolan, women's hockey

President's Award (combination of athletics and academics) - Tyler Marghetis, wrestling

Concordia-McGill Media Award - Serge Vleminckx, Journal de Montréal

Men's Wrestling Team

The Concordia University wrestling team finished in third place and several individuals had exceptional performances at the Canadian Interuniversity Sport national championships in March.

Tyler Marghetis won a gold medal in the 76-kilo weight class. The top two finishers in each weight class earn all-Canadian honours. This is the third all-Canadian award for Marghetis in three years. Concordia rookie Tim Wadsworth was also on the podium as a silver medallist in the 65 kilos category. He joined the team in January and had an immediate impact. He earned all-Canadian honours and was named Concordia's male rookie of the year. David Zilberman also earned a silver medal.

In the 68 kilo weight class, Tony Ronci finished fourth, while James Mancini (61 kg.) scored a fifth-place finish and Nick Russell (72 kg.) ended up sixth in his weight class.

All six wrestlers contributed points to help Concordia finish in third place overall at the national competition. With 38 points Concordia finished behind only Brock (69 points) and Saskatchewan (39 points).

Men's Basketball Team

Under the guidance of veteran coach John Dore, the Concordia Stingers men's basketball team ran up an overall record of 27-11 and finished second in the nation.

The Stingers earned a berth at the Canadian Interuniversity Sport national championship and went to Halifax seeded second. Concordia romped over the Saint Mary's Huskies 87-58 in the first round. Next up in the semifinal were the Brock Badgers, who put up a decent fight but eventually lost 59-46. In the national championship game, Concordia fell 68-48 to the No. 1-ranked Carleton Ravens.

The Stingers won their first Quebec championship since 2000 with an exciting 75-72 victory over the Laval Rouge et Or before a capacity crowd at Concordia gym. They also easily handled the Bishop's Gaiters 89-68 in the conference semifinal.

Concordia ran up a 26-5 record against CIS competition, including a 17-1 romp through the Quebec Student Sport Federation conference. The Stingers spent the early part of the season battling top NCAA teams, including the Virginia Cavaliers and the South Carolina Gamecocks. It was a tough run with just one win and six losses. But the team thoroughly enjoyed the experience and it helped prepare the Stingers for the CIS season.

There were many individual honours for the Stingers. Captain Phil Langlois was a first team CIS all-Canadian, the Quebec conference MVP and a QSSF all-star. He was also named Concordia's 2005 Male Athlete of the Year. Forward Patrick Perrotte was an honourable mention all-Canadian and a Quebec all-star. He was also named to the all-star team at the national championship. Forward Ben Sormonte was a QSSF all-star and also named to the honour roll at the nationals. Finally, John Dore was named the Quebec Coach of the Year.

Women's Basketball Team

Or but was edged out 56-47.

The Stingers rolled up a 9-7 win-loss record in Quebec conference play and an overall record of 17-11. Concordia was ranked in the Canadian Interuniversity Sport (CIS) top 10 most of the season, peaking at the seventh spot in January.

Under the direction of head coach Keith Pruden, the Concordia Stingers women's basketball team made a great late season run, upsetting the second-place Bishop's Gaiters 60-57 in overtime in the conference semifinal and advancing to the Quebec championship. The team then played an exceptional game against the 15-1 first-place Laval Rouge et Individual successes included senior guard M.J. Raposo, who was named a QSSF second team all-star and was honoured with the prestigious Sylvia Sweeney Award presented annually to the CIS basketball player who has outstanding achievements in basketball, academically and in her community. Joining Raposo on the conference all-star team in guard Pascale Morin. She earned a spot on the first team.

Men's Football Team

The season came to an end with a 29-13 semifinal loss to the Laval Rouge et Or in Quebec City.

There were several big awards to celebrate, including two national honours. Defensive end Troy Cunningham was awarded the Metras Trophy as the outstanding lineman in the country. Linebacker Mickey Donovan was presented the President's Trophy as the outstanding defensive player in Canadian university football. Cunningham, Donovan and punter Mike Renaud were all first-team all-Canadians. The three were also Quebec conference all-stars. Joining them on the provincial honour roll were kicker Warren Kean, cornerback Mo Sidibe and defensive halfback Kerry Clahane.

The Concordia Stingers football team, playing an exceptionally tough schedule, posted a 4-5 win-loss record and finished in third place. Highlights include defeating the Saint Mary's Huskies 29-10 in Halifax. The Huskies were ranked No. 1 in the country at the time. The Stingers also notched an exciting 29-26 overtime win over the McGill Redmen at Homcoming.

The Concordia Stingers men's hockey team enjoyed an exciting campaign in the Ontario University Athletics (OUA) conference, running up a record of 14-8-1-1 and finishing in third place.

Crowd-pleasing scoring was the key to the Stingers' success. Concordia had the third best offence out of 31 teams in the country. Four members of the Stingers – Jon Gautier

The Stingers ended the season with an exhilarating playoff series versus the Ottawa Gee-Gees. Concordia lost the third and deciding game 3-2 in overtime before a full house at their home rink.

Individual honors went to left wing Frederic Faucher and defenceman Andrew Davis who were named to the OUA's second all-star team. Centre Bruno Champagne was named to the OUA all-rookie team.

Concordia its sixth trip in eight years to the national championship tournament. The Stingers struggled at the Canadian championship finishing in sixth place.

Under the guidance of head coach Les Lawton, the Concordia Stingers women's hockey team ran up an overall record of 21-10-3 and were the No. 3-ranked team in the CIS throughout the year.

The Stingers won their 15th Quebec title in 18 years with a dramatic 2-1 victory over the McGill Martlets in the third and deciding game of the Quebec conference championship. Right wing Jodi Gosse scored the winner on the powerplay with 2:25 to play.

The successful season earned

There were many honours for members of the women's hockey team, including Roxanne Dupuis (first team), Cecilia Anderson (second team) and Dominique Rancour (second team) who were Canadian Interuniversity Sport all-Canadians. Those three were also first team Quebec all-stars, while Jodi Gosse and Marie-Pier Cantin-Drouin were second team all-stars. The Stingers took three major Quebec awards. Anderson was the Quebec conference MVP, Sandy Roy was the outstanding rookie and Lawton was named the Coach of the Year.

Men's Rugby Team

In playoff action, Concordia lost the Quebec semifinal 18-13 to the Bishop's Gaiters.

The team trained hard over the winter and several members of the Stingers were invited to play on the Quebec Selects, an elite university squad that played the Canadian under-23 men's rugby team at Concordia Stadium on April 20. The participating Stingers were David MacLeod, Tim McEwen, Brandon Ionata and Etienne Bouchard-Claisse.

The Concordia Stingers men's rugby team rolled up an impressive 6-2 win-loss record in the Quebec university conference. The team dominated all its opponents except the McGill Redmen who eked out 17-10 and 12-9 victories in hard-fought battles with the Stingers.

Four members of the Stingers were also named to the QSSF all-star team last fall: Ionata, MacLeod, David Chung and Bouchard-Claisse. George Vouloumanos was named the team MVP, while Nicolas Delle Donne was the Stingers' outstanding rookie.

Women's Rugby Team

The 2004 Concordia Stingers women's rugby team put in a solid performance in a rebuilding year. The team compiled a 3-5 win-loss record in the regular season, finishing in third place in the five-team Quebec conference.

The Stingers put up a good fight in the conference semifinal but eventually succumbed 20-12 to the second-place Ottawa Gee-Gees.

Anna Bediako, Elizabeth Vicente and Robin Hemming were named to the Quebec all-star team. Bediako was the Stingers' MVP, while Lindsay Coughlin was the team's outstanding rookie.

the playoffs in the eight-team Quebec men's conference.

The Stingers played their traditionally strong defensive style, allowing just 17 goals in 14 games. Behind the strong netminding work of Steve McCauley, the team recorded six shutouts. Offence was the biggest challenge as Concordia only managed 10 goals on the season.

McCauley and defender François Bastien were named to the QSSF first all-star team. McCauley was the team's MVP, while Bastien was honoured with an award of distinction at the annual Concordia Athletic Awards Night in recognition of his five-year career with the Stingers. Forward Omar Benomar was the team's top rookie.

the Quebec City foes edged the Stingers out of the final playoff spot.

There was a tremendous youth movement on the Concordia Stingers women's soccer team in 2004, and the results were exceptional. Out of 25 athletes, only four had more than two years of soccer experience at the university level.

The Stingers posted an 8-3-3 win-loss-tie record in the eight-team Quebec conference. With 27 points in 14 games, Concordia finished in third place tied with the Laval Rouge et Or. However,

A season highlight was the inaugural Stingers Women's Soccer Challenge that saw Concordia host nine teams for 13 games over four days. The Stingers participated in five games over Labour Day weekend, recording three ties and two losses.

Individual honours went to goalkeeper Diane Ouimet, who was named a QSSF first team all-star and her team MVP, mid-fielder Melanie Poirier who was a second team all-star and Erica Geersten who was the Stingers' outstanding rookie.

A photograph of a desert landscape. The foreground is a flat, sandy area with some faint tracks. In the middle ground, there is a range of low, dark mountains or hills. The sky is a deep blue with some wispy white clouds. A white rectangular box is superimposed on the upper half of the image, containing text.

Best Wishes and Congratulations to all the Concordia graduates

When these alumni graduated, they automatically became members of the Concordia University Alumni Association.

That gives them access to a growing number of advantages, services and opportunities, all of which you, as a Concordia graduate, can also enjoy. As a graduate, you get preferential rates on life and general insurance. You can profit from your connections to the university by participating in alumni events held across the country and around the world, just for fun or for the networking benefits participation brings. You can remain informed about the Concordia community through the alumni website or Concordia University Magazine. You can participate in the online mentor program. And much more. Make sure you're profiting from your connections.

To learn more or to update your contact information, visit alumni.concordia.ca, or call (514) 848-2424 ext. 4856 or 1-888-777-3330.

CONGRATULATIONS on your well-earned Concordia degree. You may be saying goodbye to the university, but you'll also be saying hello to your 120,000 fellow Concordia alumni.

As well, you are now a member of the Concordia University Alumni Association (CUAA), which offers networking opportunities and benefits such as the quarterly Concordia University Magazine and invitations to university and alumni events. You'll also be able to give back to your alma mater by volunteering, acting as an ambassador to perspective new students or investing in your university.

But to enjoy all of these features,
WE NEED YOUR UPDATED ADDRESS.
